

Mathematics
Professional Development Offerings
2009-2010
Web-based Offerings

Interactive Journaling in Mathematics, Grades K-8, (NEW)

According to Robert Marzano, some instructional strategies are more effective at increasing retention rates among students. Summarizing and note taking are one of Marzano's top nine most effective instructional strategies to increase student achievement. This online professional development session will provide participants with the tools to introduce interactive journaling that will enhance students understanding of the mathematics being studied through writing.